All the voters in the State are invited to join in sending delegates to that convention who desire to promote the following surposes: the following purposes: First-Restoration of gold and silver as a basis of the currency of the country. The speedy resumption of specie payments and the payment of all national indebtedness in the money recognized by the civilized world.

Second-Free commerce. Third-Individual liberty, and oppostion to pre-empting lands.

Fourth—Rigid restriction of the governments, both State and national, to the legitimate domain of political power, by excluding them from all executive and legislative intermeddling with the affairs of society whereby money which is fostered by privileged classes is ag-grandized, and individual freedom ungrandized, and ladividual freedom un-necessarily and oppressively restrained. Fifth—The right and duty of the State to protect its cluzens from extertion and unjust discrim-ination by chartered money. The committee, believing that the op-position to Republican misrule can har-moniously unite upon the foregoing principles, earnestly solicits the free co-operation of all men, regardless of past political affiliation, in an earnest past political affiliation, in an earnest effort to place the State and national governments in the hands of men who

The letter continues to say that it cannot and will never again submit to the country an honest, frank and well defined platform of principles. It would have gone to pieces during the last session of congress, but for the agreement that everything in state-manship and pil-tics should benceforth be regarded as nonessential. And it must be apparent nonessential. And it must be apparent from what is known that the opposition have as yet determined upon no com-mon ground of action; nor do I suppose it to be possible now to present to the country a declaration of principles upon which all opposed to the party in power can agree. It is true every critizen must excellent in the recklesness and ex-

In my judgment this end can be secured in but one way, and that is to go before the country upon a declaration of principles that shall be frank, unevasive and true, and which shall, by its plainness, earry proof with which it is presented, that the fluance of the country is a subject of deep interest. Let it speak out frankly for an early return to specie payment, for an honest discharge of the public debt in coin, and denounce the delusive idea of discharging any portion of the obligadischarging any portion of the doliga-tions of the government in irredeem-able promises.
